

Daquarii Rock is an Independent Consultant with North Stars Consulting, LLC and is at her best when collaborating with creative, motivated, and passionately committed individuals. She is driven by her passion for improving the lives of others.

As an advocate for children and families and a leader in the community, she takes pride in her ability to connect with people and provide a unique perspective. Her desire to improve the lives of others is evident through her dedication to social justice and underserved populations.

Working in the non-profit world as an Executive Director, Chief Executive Officer and Development Director has brought a valuable insight into the lives of those in need. She is a successful grant writer and recognized as an expert in U.S Health Resources and Services Administration grant cycles. Traveling around the United States as a professional training with the Office of Rural Health Policy allowed her to meet people from a variety of cultural backgrounds. Her time as an instructor in the Human Development department at Washington State University provided an invaluable opportunity to work directly with students.

Daquarii earned her Bachelor's of Science in Child, Family and Consumer Studies from University of Idaho then a Master of Arts degree in Human Development from Washington State University. She is a certified grant writer with the American Grant Writers Association and earned her Teaching English as a Foreign Language (TEFL) credential in 2020.

Daquarii is a small business owner, founder of the Rolling Hills Derby Dames, an amateur radio operator, spoon whittler, and lover of the arts. Originally from Southern California, she has been in the Pacific Northwest for 22 years. Daquarii is the proud parent for four successful adults residing in Western Washington.
